Ride in Comfort TerraTrike

The TerraTrike is available in a wide range of sizes and a variety of models.

The TerraTrike Path is ideal for riders who are looking for simple, comfortable riding.

I have two bikes sitting in the garage, since, out of all the exercises that were available to me, cycling appealed to me the most. However, I found that my balance wasn't what it once was, and even though I had tried a variety of seats, none of them seemed to fit my body parts comfortably. Then, I saw an ad that sounded too good to be true. It was for the TerraTrike, a three-wheeled recumbent cycle for under $1,000. It has a slung mesh seat that allows the body to relax and is as comfortable as can be. When I called to order one, I wanted to know how difficult it would be to assemble it and placed my order immediately when I was told it would arrive fully assembled and ready to ride. A few days later, a box arrived, and there it was, ready to roll. I topped off the tires with a little air and off I went. Sitting up with my feet forward was just what I needed to enjoy cycling and get some exercise. I noticed how much easier I was breathing while pedaling; and with my head up, any neck or back pain was eliminated. The slung mesh seat was more than wide enough for my ample expanse. It only took me a few minutes before I was handling the trike like a sports car, due to its disc brakes and Ackerman steering. On the Pinellas Trail, I whizzed along with ease and comfort. Won't my doctor be surprised when I tell him I've been cycling a few hours a week and enjoying it. If only I had found a TerraTrike sooner. ■■
